1 1991 CENSUS - Programme of Census Reports

Preliminary

1.1 This report was published in July 1991 and contained provisional figures of the population and private households for each of the 26 local government districts with a brief statistical commentary.

Summary

1.2 The Summary Report was published in October 1992 and contains information for Northern Ireland and for each of the 26 local government districts. The subjects covered include age distribution, sex, marital status, birthplace, religion, households, tenure, amenities, occupation density, availability of cars, communal establishments, economically active population, employment status, long-term illness, term-time address of students and schoolchildren, and Irish language.

Belfast Urban Area

1.3 The Belfast Urban Area Report was published in December 1992 and contains information to ward level for the Belfast Urban Area as defined by the Department of the Environment for Northern Ireland Town and Country Planning Service. The subjects covered include age distribution, sex, marital status, birthplace, religion, households, tenure, amenities, occupation density, availability of cars, communal establishments, economically active population, employment status, long-term illness, term-time address of students and schoolchildren, and Irish language.

Religion

1.4 All tables in this report contain information at Northern Ireland level and some give details to local government districts on the main religious denominations. The subjects covered include population by age, sex, marital status, occupation, industry, and other characteristics.

Economic Activity

1.5 This report will contain tables giving the figures for both the economically active and economically inactive population. The employed population will be analysed by industry and occupation classifications and related to age, marital status, employment status, socio-economic groupings, area of workplace, etc. All tables will contain information at Northern Ireland level but some will give details for local government districts.

Workplace and Transport to Work

1.6 Employed population details in relation to area of workplace/residence will be contained in this report. Workplace movement by socio-economic group, occupation, industry, and means of transport to work will also be detailed to local government district level.

Housing and Household Composition

1.7 All tables in this report will contain information at Northern Ireland level but some will give details for local government districts. Tables will include information on households, tenure, occupation density, car availability, age, sex, marital status, and will relate household composition to social and other economic characteristics.

Migration

1.8 Numbers and characteristics of the population who changed their usual address in the year before Census day will be contained in this report. Migrant households will be detailed by age, sex, marital status, etc. Some tables will refer to Northern Ireland and others will be detailed to local government districts.

Education

1.9 This report will contain information at Northern Ireland level by age, sex, occupation, and industry by highest level of academic qualification. Also included will be socio-economic group by religion and economic activity by marital status related to highest level of academic qualification.

Irish Language

1.10 This report will contain information on the population aged 3 years and over, recorded as having knowledge of Irish language. The tables covered will include knowledge by age, sex, religion, economic position, and highest level of academic qualification to Northern Ireland level.

2 Explanatory Notes and Definitions of terms used in the report

Introduction

2.1 The tables in this report compare the numbers in each of the four main religious denominations with classifications by age, sex, occupation, industry, and academic qualifications. Households classified by the religion of the household head are analysed by size, density of occupation, tenure, and availability of amenities.

Administrative Divisions

2.2 The local government districts for which statistics are presented in this report are those in existence at the date of the Census.

Population

2.3 Census results are presented as cross tabulations, each counting a particular population, for example, people, households, families, or people in communal establishments. It is important to know exactly what is being counted, i.e. the population base. Information on whereabouts and usual address given for each person listed on the Census form can be used to derive the population base.

2.4 The population present on Census night (present population) in an area is the count of all people recorded as spending Census night in the area regardless of whether or not this was where they usually lived; that is, all persons recorded on the Census H Forms for whom the whereabouts on Census night was given as the relevant household, plus all persons recorded as being in communal establishments.

2.5 The usually resident population in an area is the count of those people recorded on the forms for the area as usually living 'at this address' whether or not they are present on Census night.

2.6 Shipping: Apart from houseboats (enumerated as private households), vessels were treated in a similar way to communal establishments with a listing form and individual return form for each person on the ship. Persons on naval vessels in Northern Ireland waters or ports on Census night were included as present in the home base port of the ship. Generally persons on other vessels were counted as present in the area in which the form was collected.

2.7 For the 1991 Census there were some minor changes made to the enumeration of shipping. Vessels on coastal trips, fishing voyages and voyages between Great Britain and Northern Ireland were not enumerated. However, foreign registered ships in Northern Ireland ports, excluded in 1981, were enumerated.

Campers, persons sleeping rough, etc.

2.8 The present population also includes persons not enumerated in private households or communal establishments, for example, persons sleeping rough and persons enumerated in caravans or other non-permanent structures which were not the usual residence.

Population covered in this Report

2.9 Figures contained in this report refer to the usually resident population.

Religion

2.10 It was not obligatory to answer the question on religion. The question was worded as follows:

Please state the Religion, Religious Denomination or Body to which the person belongs. The term 'Protestant' should not be used alone and the denomination should be given as precisely as possible.

If none write NONE.

2.11 The classification of religions includes a separate heading for each religion. A list of the religious denominations with ten or more adherents is given in the Appendix. Religions which differ only or mainly in denominational terminology are generally grouped together and the figures for the group as a whole are shown under the name by which the group is officially or commonly known. Thus the heading Presbyterian includes United Presbyterian, Trinitarian and Church of Scotland. Church of Ireland is regarded as embracing both Anglican and Episcopalian except for persons so described whose usual address was in England: in such cases the Church of England classification was applied.

2.12 Also included was a heading for persons who stated they had no religion.

Age

2.13 Age is the completed years of age at Census date, as derived from the date of birth question.

Households

2.14 A household is either one person living alone or a group of people (who may or may not be related) living at the same address with common housekeeping. Persons staying temporarily with the household are included. A group of people is treated as a household if there is any regular arrangement to share at least one meal a day. Two people who share one room, although each may have separate catering arrangements, are treated as one household. A household must have exclusive use of at least one room.

2.15 Absent households are those households where all residents of the household were recorded as absent from their usual address on Census night and at which no other person was present.

Dwellings

2.16 Dwellings are defined as 'structurally separate accommodation' and are classified into permanent and non-permanent accommodation.

2.17 Permanent accommodation includes:

- a whole house or bungalow, whether detached, semi-detached or terraced;
- the whole of a purpose built flat or maisonette including any situated in a commercial building (for example in an office building or hotel or over a shop) or in a block of flats;
- part of a converted or shared house, bungalow or flat with a separate or shared entrance into the building. This includes a one roomed flatlet, one room or a bedsit not self-contained, a self-contained flat or accommodation with two or more rooms, or two or more rooms not self-contained.

2.18 Non-permanent accommodation includes:

- caravans or mobile structures and such non-permanent structures as huts, shacks, tents, etc., are treated as dwellings only if they were some person's usual residence on Census night. If such structures were vacant on Census night they were excluded.

2.19 A vacant dwelling is one which was fit or ready for habitation but was awaiting occupancy - this type of dwelling would invariably be unfurnished. Derelict or uninhabitable dwellings are excluded.

Shared dwellings

2.20 A shared dwelling is a dwelling sharing an entrance into the building and comprising two or more household spaces that are not self-contained.

2.21 Other dwellings include student or holiday accommodation or second residences in which all the persons present on Census night have a more permanent address elsewhere.

Rooms

2.22 Private households were asked to count the number of rooms in their accommodation, but not to count the following:

Kitchens less than 2 metres (6 feet 6 inches) wide, bathrooms or toilets.

2.23 In unshared dwellings the head of the household provided information. In shared dwellings the enumerator was instructed to enquire of each household in the dwelling if any room was shared by another household. If any room was shared by 2 or more households the enumerator was further instructed to identify separate households where appropriate.

2.24 In the tables classifying households by rooms occupied, any room shared by 2 or more households is allocated to one household to avoid the use of fractions and to ensure that the total number of rooms in the dwelling is not altered.

Density of Occupation

2.25 The density of occupation of a private household is the ratio of the number of persons in a private household with usual residents to the number of rooms occupied by the private household. The following ratios of density are used:

- Over 1.5 persons per room.
- Over one and up to 1.5 persons per room.
- Over 0.75 and up to one person per room.
- 0.5 and over and up to 0.75 persons per room.
- Less than 0.5 persons per room.

Tenure

2.26 Heads of households were required to indicate under the following headings how they occupied their accommodation.

As an owner occupier:

- 1. Through mortgage or loan.
- 2. Owning the property outright.

By renting, rent free or by lease:

- 3. From a public authority (e.g. NI Housing Executive).
- 4. From a housing association or charitable trust.
- 5. Unfurnished from a private landlord, company or other organisation.
- 6. Furnished from a private landlord, company or other organisation.

In some other way

If the Census form indicated more than one form of tenure but gave no further information the tenure was assigned to this category. Where no tenure was stated on the Census form, the accommodation was similarly assigned.

2.27 A shared dwelling was classified according to the tenure stated by the main household.

Household Amenities

2.28 The amenities on which information was collected in respect of each private household are listed below. In the case of fixed bath or shower and flush toilets the householder was required to indicate whether individual amenities were used only by the household, shared with another household or were not available.

- (a) A fixed bath or shower permanently connected to a water supply and waste pipe.
- (b) A flush toilet (WC) with entrance inside the building.

2.29 Additional information on amenities was collected in respect of each private household. Householders were required to indicate whether the household had use of the following amenities:

Central heating

Central heating includes night storage heaters, warm air or under-floor heating, whether actually used or not. It is categorised as follows:

- 1. All living rooms and bedrooms centrally heated.
- 2. Some (not all) living rooms and bedrooms centrally heated.
- 3. No living rooms or bedrooms centrally heated.

Water supply

1. Public supply piped into house.
2. Public supply at a standpipe.
3. Other.

Domestic sewage disposal

1. Public sewer.
2. Septic tank/cesspit for use only by the household.
3. Septic tank/cesspit for use also by another household.
4. Dry closet/chemical toilet.

Head of Household

2.30 The head of the household was the person entered in the first column of the Census form provided that person was aged 16 years or over and usually resident at 'this address'.

2.31 If one of these conditions was not met, the first person aged 16 years or over to be entered on the form and recorded as usually resident at 'this address' was classified as the head. In the last resort the oldest resident under 16 years of age was taken as the head. No head was identified in households consisting entirely of visitors.

Economic Activity

2.32 The economic activity tables describe some of the economic characteristics of the population. The characteristics include both those obtained directly from census questions, for example, economic position, and occupation, and others derived from combining answers to census questions on occupation and industry, for example, employment status. Persons on a Government employment or training scheme are regarded as economically active in employment. However, while information about the particular scheme was not collected in the Census, persons on these schemes are included as a separate group in tables which give details on economic position and occupation.

2.33 Only specified groups were required to answer some of the economic activity questions and this is reflected in the population to which tables refer. Thus:

- (a) Tables relating to economic position include only persons aged 16 years and over.
- (b) Tables relating to occupation cover the economically active.
- (c) Tables relating to employment status cover persons in employment.

Economic position

2.34 The classification by economic position is as follows:

Economically active

In employment means having a job during the week ended 20 April 1991. Temporary, part-time or casual employment is included. Persons absent from their employment due to holiday, strikes, lock-outs, short-time working or temporary stoppages are regarded as in employment. Persons off work sick are regarded as in employment if their jobs are waiting for them on return.

Out of employment means seeking work or prevented by temporary sickness from seeking work or waiting to take up a job already accepted.

Economically inactive

Looking after the home means having full-time responsibility for looking after the home.

Long-term sick/disabled means being unable to work because of long-term sickness or disability.

Retired means wholly retired from employment and no longer seeking paid work.

Students are persons in full-time attendance at an educational establishment irrespective of whether or not they may have part-time or seasonal employment.

Others are persons economically inactive and include persons in unpaid work in a family business including a shop or farm, or looking after the house or family, or in voluntary work, or never in employment and not seeking work, and those of independent means.

Employment status

2.35 The classification of employment status is as follows:

Self-employed

1. With employees.
2. Without employees.

Employees

1. Managers.
 - (a) extra large establishments.
 - (b) large establishments.
 - (c) small establishments.
2. Foremen and supervisors.
 - (a) manual.
 - (b) non-manual.
3. Professional employees.
4. Other employees.

2.36 Information on occupation is used to distinguish the various types of employees and information on name and business of employer to distinguish the size of the establishment. Extra large establishments are those classified as having 500 or more employees. Large establishments are those having between 25 and 499 employees. Small establishments are those with fewer than 25 employees.

Classification of Occupations

2.37 The occupation of a person is most often determined by reference to that person's main job at the reference time, but for persons not currently employed it may be determined by reference to the most recent, or most recent main, job. Any given job is assumed to involve a set of typical work activities and to be an instance of a particular occupation.

2.38 Occupation codes are allocated from the answers to question 17 on the Census form. In the tables, occupations are classified according to the Standard Occupational Classification (SOC) 1990 issued by the Office of Population Censuses and Surveys and published by HMSO under ISBN 0 11 691284 7 (Vol 1), ISBN 0 11 691285 5 (Vol 2) and ISBN 0 11 691338 X (Vol 3).

Note: SOC contains new classifications which may differ from those contained in the Classification of Occupations 1980 (CO 80) which applied to answers given to question 13 on the 1981 Northern Ireland Census form. Consequently it may not be possible to make direct comparisons between 1981 and 1991 Tables.

Principles of the classification

2.39 The object of the classification is to group together occupations (basically by reference to job titles) which are deemed to be similar, taking simultaneous account of 2 main criteria. These criteria are:

- i. the level of skill and/or experience and/or formal qualification which is required to carry out competently the work activities typically involved in the occupation; and
- ii. the nature of those work activities.

2.40 The first criterion - skill level - is applied where possible by reference to the level of formal qualifications currently required in order for a person to be recognised as fully competent in the occupation concerned; but in other cases by reference to the duration of training and/or experience recognised in the field of employment concerned as being normally required to pursue the occupation competently.

2.41 The second criterion - nature of work activities - may refer to any or all of a number of aspects of the work, including the materials handled, the type of tools and equipment used, and so on. However, it focuses specifically in all cases on work activities, rather than on other aspects of the job such as, for example, whether the worker has trainee or supervisory status, or what industrial function the job serves. These are ignored by the SOC, - so that, for example, a 'carpenter', an 'apprentice or trainee carpenter' and a 'foreman carpenter' are all assigned to exactly the same occupational group.

Treatment of managerial occupations

2.42 An area where the nature of the activities, type of skill and status in employment may be difficult to separate conceptually is management. The SOC approach, is to treat jobs where the main activity is, 'management above the level of a first-line supervisor or foreman', as requiring a special class of skills and thus needing to be classified separately from the jobs of the workers managed. Thus in allocating jobs to occupational groups the SOC takes account, in appropriate and defined cases, of the designation 'manager' and also of indications that the person is the proprietor of a business. These are treated as indications that the job involves activities and skills typical of managers.

2.43 On the same principle there are a few cases where allocation to an occupational group may be assisted by knowledge of whether or not the person has self-employed status. In these limited respects, information on status in employment is taken into account in the SOC.

Treatment of labouring and similar unskilled occupations

2.44 Jobs having the title 'Labourer' are in general classified, along with other jobs requiring relatively little skill, qualification or experience, to Major Group 9 of the SOC. Because of the unspecific terms in which many such jobs are reported in practice it is necessary to invoke a quasi-industrial principle for classifying below major group level. This gives rise to minor group headings such as:

'91 Other occupations in mining and manufacturing'.

'92 Other occupations in construction', and so on.

2.45 The ultimate recourse is to Minor Group 99 and Unit Group 990 which is a catch-all for 'All other labourers and related workers'. The practical implications of this are tending to diminish as the number of generalised unskilled jobs in the economy continues to decline.

Treatment of Armed Forces occupations

2.46 Members of the Armed Forces may in certain cases have jobs which are unique to that sector of the economy. The SOC makes provision for military occupations specified in terms of ranks (e.g. 'Lieutenant Commander', 'Sergeant' etc.) in Minor Groups 15 (Commissioned Officers) and 60 (NCOs and other ranks). In other cases job titles, if given, may equate to those of civilian jobs (e.g. vehicle mechanic, radio operator etc.) though of course the persons concerned all hold military ranks also. Here the basic classificatory assumption is that both Armed Forces and civilian jobs will be coded to the same groups without any distinction being made between them.

Treatment of agricultural, forestry and fishing occupations

2.47 Occupations which are specifically agricultural, forestry and fishing, but not managerial, in nature are allocated to Minor Group 90 of SOC and its constituent Unit Groups. This group of occupations is sufficiently distinct from other occupations to require their own small set of minor groups and might therefore claim their own major group. However, one criterion for distinguishing major groups was that each should contain a substantial proportion of all occupations, and the proportion of the labour force currently engaged in agriculture, forestry and fishing is now so small that major group status was judged not to be appropriate.

Classification of Industries

2.48 The industry in which a person is engaged is determined by the business or industrial activity in which his or her occupation is followed. While the occupational classification takes account only of the nature of the work performed the industrial classification relates only to the nature of the service or product to which the labour contributes. For example, a carpenter would be classified industrially to building, if employed by a builder, but to brewing if employed by a brewery firm. The allocation of an employed person (a person who had a job at sometime in the week before Census day) to an industry was based on the answer given to Question 18 on the Census form. Industries are classified in the tables according to the revised 'Standard Industrial Classification' (SIC) (HMSO 1980 ISBN 0 11 6307641) issued by the Central Statistical Office. As SIC 1980 was also used to classify industries in 1981 Tables, it will be possible to make direct comparisons between those and 1991 Tables. Paragraphs 2.49-2.64 below are selected extracts from the preface to that publication:

Introduction

2.49 The United Kingdom economy is made up of a wide range of economic activities through which goods are produced or services rendered by firms and other organisations. For analytical purposes, economic activities of a similar nature may be grouped together into 'industries', for example into agriculture, motor vehicle manufacture, retail distribution, catering, national government service. A system used to group activities in this way is described as an industrial classification. 'Industry' in this context is not restricted to extractive or production activities but extends to the provision of goods and services of all kinds.

2.50 Such a classification usually starts with a small number of broad groups of activities which are then subdivided into progressively narrower groups so that the classification can be used with varying amounts of detail for different purposes. Thus a broad group 'Transport and communication' may be subdivided first into the different modes of transport (road, rail, water, air) and communication (postal services, telecommunications) and these in turn into smaller subdivisions such as road haulage, bus and coach services etc.

The basis and structure of the classification

2.51 The classification is intended to apply to units about which important economic statistics are collected. A number of different factors have been taken into account in the classification. They include the nature of the process or of the work done, the principal raw material used, the type or intended use of goods produced or handled, and the type of service rendered. Different factors predominate in different parts of the classification and in many cases a broad group based on one common factor is subdivided by reference to another. The different headings of the classification (i.e. the short titles of the industries) are accordingly worded so as to indicate the factor or combination of factors on which they are based and this is followed in each case by a brief description of the activities included.

2.52 The full range of activities is first divided into 10 broad Divisions (listed in paragraph 12 below) each denoted by a single digit from 0 to 9. The Divisions are in turn subdivided into Classes (each denoted by the addition of a second digit), the Classes into Groups (3 digits) and the Groups into activity headings (4 digits). There are 10 Divisions, 60 Classes, 222 Groups and 334 Activity headings. The full number of possible subdivisions at each level is not necessarily used but is varied according to the diversity of activities included. For example, Division 0 Agriculture, Forestry and Fishing is divided into only 3 Classes, without further subdivisions, whereas Division 4 Other Manufacturing Industries has 8 Classes, 50 Groups and 91 Activity headings. The use of 0 as the final digit for a Class, Group or Activity heading normally indicates that it is the only subdivision at that level, thus Group 140 is the only Group in Class 14 (Mineral oil processing) but is itself divided into 2 Activity headings, 1401 and 1402. Class 16, (Production and distribution of electricity, gas and other forms of energy) on the other hand has 3 Groups which are therefore numbered 161, 162 and 163 but since one of these is further subdivided the Activity headings are numbered 1610, 1620 and 1630...

Statistical units

2.53 The classification is applied to units on the basis of their principal activity. Frequently no problem arises in defining the relevant unit. This will be the case, for example, where the unit is situated at a single address, is mainly engaged in a single activity (or group of activities falling within the same heading of the classification) and is operated as a separate entity for the purposes of record keeping and accounting (including VAT returns).

2.54 In many cases, however, the situation is more complex. Many units produce, sell or provide a variety of goods or services, some of which are considered to be appropriate to one heading of the classification and some to another. In such cases the unit as a whole is classified according to the type of goods or services which make up the greater part of its production, sales or service. In government inquiries a unit's classification is made on the basis of information relating to the unit which is supplied on the particular return or which is already available from other inquiries. In some cases classification may be based on the unit's own description of its principal activity.

2.55 The units to be classified may vary according to the type of data being collected and the purposes for which the data are required. In view of this it is important that when analyses by industry are prepared the statistical unit used for the inquiry concerned should be defined. Sometimes, in order to secure comparability between the results of different inquiries, it may be necessary to give some units more than one classification. This may occur, for example, when a unit at one address can provide a limited range of data, say, employment but for the provision of more comprehensive data has to be combined with another unit, or units, under the same ownership which are mainly engaged in a different activity.

2.56 Many businesses produce for their own use goods or services which are normally produced for sale by other industries. Typical examples are the manufacture or printing of containers for their own products, the generation of electricity, research, the repair and maintenance of buildings and equipment, and, occasionally, the construction or extension of buildings. If the relevant range of information is available these ancillary activities are treated as separate units and classified according to their own activity. But frequently the necessary data is not available, and the ancillary activities cannot be distinguished for most statistical purposes. When ancillary activities are carried out at separate locations it may be possible to treat them as units for a limited range of data e.g. for the census of employment.

2.57 The sales staff of a manufacturing business are not treated as a separate establishment unless separate wholesale or retail outlets are operated and complete accounts are kept for them.

2.58 The classification of head offices or other central offices at separate locations from those at which the main activities of the business are carried out is determined by the nature of the activities of the units which they serve. If those units are all classified to the same industry there is no problem, but if they are classified to 2 or more different industries, the classification of the head office, etc., is that of the largest part of the activities. Exceptionally, if the activities are very diffuse, the central office is classified in heading 8396 - Central offices not allocatable elsewhere - which is also used for the UK offices of businesses operating mainly abroad.

Some special points

2.59 Steel - An exception to the rule of classification according to major activity is that reporting units whose activities include the basic manufacture of iron and steel as defined in the ECSC Treaty, are classified to heading 2210 - Iron and steel industry.

2.60 Merchanting activities - Establishments mainly engaged in merchanting, broking, importing and exporting are classified to the appropriate heading in the distributive trades, not to the industry or trade producing the goods in which they deal.

2.61 Repair Work - Much repair work is carried out either by the manufacturers or by the distributors of the goods concerned, or of similar goods, and in such cases it is rarely possible to distinguish a separate unit engaged mainly in repair work. There are, however, numerous units which specialise in repair work, mainly of consumer goods - motor vehicles, footwear, watches and clocks, television and radio sets, etc. These specialist repair activities are classified separately. The repair of capital equipment, such as ships, aircraft, and most types of plant and machinery is classified with the corresponding manufacture, even if carried out by specialist units. Units engaged in the repair and maintenance of buildings are classified to Construction.

2.62 Construction - In principle all construction work should be classified to Class 50 - Construction. In practice it is impossible to obtain a full range of economic statistics for construction work done by all directly employed labour. These activities will generally be classified to the same heading as the establishment which they serve. The construction activities of direct labour forces employed by local authorities and government departments, using direct labour are, however, allocated to Class 50.

2.63 Installation Work - The installation of machinery, equipment, etc. is normally carried out by the manufacturer or distributor and is not distinguishable as a separate activity. There are some business units, however, where installation is the only, or the major activity. Such units are classified according to the type of equipment involved as follows:

- i. The installation of items which can be regarded as forming an integral part of a building, e.g. an electrical wiring system, heating and ventilating apparatus, is classified to Construction.
- ii. The installation of equipment which requires little more than the connection of the equipment to the mains, e.g. of domestic washing machines, television sets, is classified to Distribution.
- iii. The installation of plant and machinery, e.g. a computer is... classified with the manufacturer of similar articles...

2.64 Industry codes were assigned, as far as possible, by reference to lists from the Department of Economic Development which gave names and addresses of employers by industry code. Where the employer's name at (a) of the question was not listed, a code was allocated from the information given at (a) and (b) of the question.

Academic Qualifications

2.65 Academic qualifications have been classified into 7 levels as follows:-

- 1. Degree level or higher.
- 2. BTEC (Higher), BEC (Higher), TEC (Higher), HNC, HND.
- 3. GCE 'A' Level, Advanced Senior Certificate.
- 4. BTEC (National), TEC (National), BEC (National), ONC, OND.
- 5. GCSE, GCE 'O' Level (including CSE grade 1), Senior Certificate, BTEC (General), BEC (General).
- 6. CSE (other than grade 1).
- 7. No formal qualifications as above.

Presentation Conventions

2.66 A dash (-) indicates that the entry is zero. A blank indicates that a particular combination of line and column is impossible. In the presentation of rates, a rate shown as 0 indicates that the actual rate is less than one half of a unit but is not zero.

1991 Census NORTHERN IRELAND H Form for Private Households

To the Head or Joint Heads or members of the Household aged 16 or over

Please complete this form for all members of the household, including children, and have it ready for collection on Monday 22nd April. Your Census Enumerator will call to collect it then or soon afterwards and will help you with the form if you have any difficulties. The enclosed leaflet explains why the Census is necessary and how the information is used.

Completion of the form is compulsory under the Census Act (Northern Ireland) 1969. If you refuse to complete it, or give false information, you may have to pay a fine of up to £400. There is no penalty for refusing to state religious denomination as this is a voluntary question.

Your answers will be treated in strict confidence and used only to produce statistics. No names and addresses will be put into the computer; only the postcode will be entered. The forms will be kept securely and treated as confidential. No information about named individuals will be passed by the Census Office to any other Government Department or to any other authority or person.

Anyone using or disclosing census information improperly will be liable to prosecution. For example, it would be improper for you to pass on to someone else information which you have been given in confidence by a visitor to enable you to complete the Census Form.

If any member of the household aged 16 or over does not wish you, or another member of the household, to see their information, please ask the Enumerator for an Individual Form with an envelope.

After completing the form, please sign the declaration on the last page.
Thank you for your co-operation.

R McMurray
Registrar General

Please read these instructions before filling in this form

A Household:

A household comprises either one person living alone or a group of people (not necessarily related) living at the same address with common housekeeping - that is, sharing at least one meal a day or sharing a living room or sitting room.

People staying temporarily with the household are included.

- ▶ If there is more than one household in this building, answer for your household only.
- ▶ First check Panel A and then answer questions H1 on this page and H2 to H5 on the back page.
- ▶ When you have answered the household questions, answer the questions on the inside pages about each member of your household.
- ▶ If a member of the household is completing an Individual Form please enter their name and answer questions 5 and 6 on this form.
- ▶ Then complete Panel B and Panel C on the back page.
- ▶ Answer each question by ticking the appropriate box or boxes ☒ where they are provided.
- ▶ Please use ink or ballpoint pen.

15 Whether working, retired, looking after the home etc. last week

Which of the following things was the person doing last week?

Please read carefully right through the list. If the person did more than one of the things listed last week, tick all the descriptions that apply.

Casual or temporary work should be counted at boxes 1, 2, 3 or 4. Also tick boxes 1, 2, 3 or 4 if the person had a job last week but was off sick, on holiday, temporarily laid off or on strike. Working for an employer is part time if the hours worked, excluding any overtime and meal breaks, are usually 30 hours or less a week (box 2).

Unpaid work in a family business including a shop or farm.

Include for example ACE Scheme, Youth Training Programme and Job Training Programme.

Include any person wanting a job but prevented by holiday or temporary sickness from looking for one.

Do not count training given or paid for by an employer.

Include voluntary work and any other activity.

Panel C

Before you sign the form will you please check:

- that all questions which should have been answered have been answered for every member of your household
- that you have included everyone who spent the night of 21-22 April in your household
- that you have included everyone who usually lives here but was away from home on the night of 21-22 April
- that no visitors, boarders or newly born children, even if still in hospital, have been missed

It would help the Enumerator to be able to telephone you if there is a query on, or an omission from, your form.

If you have no objection, please write your telephone number here.
