Your Household counts

Dear Resident,

I am writing to you to kindly ask for your help with an important NISRA Household Survey. NISRA is the official Statistical Agency for Northern Ireland and you may have heard some of our results quoted in the news recently.

We need your household to participate in this survey so that we can continue to produce meaningful, accurate and reliable statistics.

Your household counts!

Whether you are working, not working, searching for work, looking after your family at home, retired or studying, what you tell us can really make a difference. The survey covers a wide range of topics including tourism, the environment, culture, arts and leisure, road safety, walking and cycling, and public transport. By taking part you are helping to inform decisions that affect you, your family and your community.

What happens next?

Over the next few weeks, one of our interviewers will make a brief, socially distanced doorstep visit to provide more information about the survey and how you can take part. Our interviewers are available during the day, in the evenings and at weekends and carry a NISRA identity card, for your reassurance.

How does the process work?

Our interviewer will complete the survey with you, making it easy and straightforward. If your household agrees to participate, we would like to invite anyone aged 16 or over to take part. There are no right or wrong answers, we just want to hear what you think. The vast majority of people who take part in our surveys find it very enjoyable and really interesting.
