

Mid-2019 Northern Ireland Population Estimates

6 May 2020

Mid-year 2019 Northern Ireland population estimates were published today.

Tables with the statistics by single year of age, sex and components of change are on the NISRA website. The following summary shows some detail on the 2019 mid-year population estimates.

Northern Ireland population grows to 1.894 million in 2019

Northern Ireland's population (30 June 2019) was 1,893,700.

The population increased by 12,000 people or 0.6 per cent between mid-2018 and mid-2019.

The graph shows the trend from 1994-2019.

Growth steady over the last five years

Annual population change has remained positive over the last twenty five years.

Growth has fluctuated from 0.1 per cent in 1999 to 1.1 per cent in 2007.

From mid-2018 to mid-2019 growth was 0.6 per cent. Over the last five years annual growth has remained at or around 0.6%.

Natural change is main driver of growth

Natural change (births minus deaths) was the main contributor to population increase.

Natural change accounted for 60 per cent of growth last year (+7,300 people) with migration contributing the remaining 40 per cent (+4,800 people).

Population continues to age

The population pyramid (left) shows the population structure.

The ageing of the population from 2009 to 2019 is evident in the increasing population amongst the older ages.

In the year to mid-2019, the number of people aged 65 or more increased by 2.1 per cent to 314,700 people.

Last year, 1 in 6 people were aged 65 or more.

The proportion of the population aged 65 or more has increased from 13.0 per cent in mid-1994 to 16.6 per cent in mid-2019.

In contrast the proportion of the population aged 0 to 15 years has decreased from 25.4 per cent in mid-1994 to 20.9 per cent in mid-2019.

Production of population estimates for local areas is ongoing. A full release for population statistics for mid-2019 will be published in June – the Northern Ireland level release was published early to support analysis in relation to coronavirus.

National Statistics

National Statistics status means that our statistics meet the highest standards of trustworthiness, quality and public value, and it is our responsibility to maintain compliance with these standards.

Population Estimates for Northern Ireland last underwent a full assessment by the UK Statistics Authority against the Code of Practice in July 2015. The assessment report can be found here. Following the Statistics Authority assessment the continued designation of these statistics as National Statistics was confirmed in August 2016.

National Statistics status was confirmed subject to NISRA implementing six specific requirements. An action plan outlining how and when NISRA addressed each of these requirements can be found here.

An action plan checklist with supporting documentation can also be found on the NISRA website.

In 2020, UK Sub-National Population Projections were subject to a compliance check by the UK Statistics Authority. As a result of this compliance check, it was confirmed that Sub-National Population Projections should continue to be designated as National Statistics.

Since the assessment by the UK Statistics Authority, we have continued to comply with the Code of Practice for Statistics, and have made the following improvements.

- Improved clarity and insight by reviewing the commentary to remove unnecessarily detailed narrative and bring forward the key messages. In addition, key point headlines have been included throughout the bulletin so users are alerted to main points of interest.
- The associated data tables for mid-year population estimates are disseminated in a more innovative way by including a flat file and tabular format which users can interact with.
- We have improved the accessibility of mid-year population estimates by publishing data in 3* open data format on Open Data NI. We have also included a new 'Links to related statistics' section within the bulletin so users can explore the whole population statistics package, including older person estimates, population projections, small area population estimates and a range of other supplementary material.
