Your Household counts

Dear Resident,

I am writing to you to kindly ask for your help with an important NISRA Household Survey. NISRA is the official Statistical Agency for Northern Ireland and you may have heard some of our results quoted in the news recently.

Your household has been selected to share its views on how and why people travel within Northern Ireland and about local public transport services. We need your household to participate in this survey so that we can continue to produce meaningful, accurate and reliable statistics.

What happens next?

In the next few weeks one of our interviewers will make a brief, socially distanced doorstep visit to provide more information about the survey and how you can take part. Our interviewers are available during the day, in the evenings and at weekends and carry a NISRA identity card, for your reassurance.

How does the process work?

We would like to invite everyone in your household to take part. Due to the Coronavirus pandemic, our interviewer will complete the survey with you over the telephone, making it easy and straightforward. The interviewer will ask you for a contact number to complete the survey. There are no right or wrong answers, we just want to hear about your household's daily experience of travelling. The vast majority of people who take part in our surveys find it very enjoyable and really interesting.
